Mission Update- The May Update spoke of Free Reformed Missions International having talks with AMG International to create a partnership with AMG assuming management of the education project. This has now taken a step forward with a commitment from AMG to take over the learning centre in Cubulco and the supervision of the teachers working in the Aldeas. This is scheduled to take place on January 1, 2013. A team from AMG visited the region recently and they were quite excited by what they saw and what the potentials are. They observed a real need for vocational training for the local people and will start working on plans to open a vocational school. For the board of FRMI this is an exciting development since we have been aware of the need for quite some time already. Please pray for wisdom for all concerned as this transition is realized. More can be found on this topic in the article posted on August 24 on <http://www.frcmissions.org/>
